THE NEWS.

—All the stories about President Johnson and his intention to wish any place and any body are untrue.

—Gen. Butler suggests that the national debt could easily be paid by a tax of fifteen cents on every pound of cotton.

—It is said that Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi, has failed to keep promises made to the President regarding the policy he would pursue in re-organizing the State Government, and that his head (metaphorically) is to be the penalty. We are of the opinion that this star is a little fishy. The President has been heard to say that Sharkey is his "best agent."

—Rip Van Winkle Welles has at last sent "something" after the Shenandoah. There will be a fine opportunity for sensation reports during the trial of "the Fiendish Pirates"—if they are caught.

—Somebody has made, and presented to Mrs. Gen. Grant, a set of jewelry out of an apple tree under which her husband and Gen. Lee negotiated for the latter's surrender. The romance of presentation is spoiled by a statement that there was no tree in the vicinity of either of the two meetings.

—The total cost of the Central Park in New York up to this time has been over nine millions of dollars, and there are in that city a hundred thousand people who hardly earn enough to support themselves. Six millions of visitors have enjoyed themselves in the Park during the past year.

—Inspector General Strong, of the Freedmen's Bureau who has for some time past been engaged in an inspection of freedmen's affairs in the Mississippi valley, says that the general condition and conduct throughout that immense stretch of country, notwithstanding the disturbed state of things and all the difficulties and prejudices which have had to be contended with, is most encourageing.

—Gen. Howard has been rightly called the Havelock of the army. He is a christian soldier peur et sans reproche. Lately he administered a quiet rebuke to wine-drunk toasts at dinner parties; rising when called on for a sentiment, and taking a glass of water in his hand, he said: "Gentlemen, I am from the State of Maine. I don't go back on my State. I give you gentlemen, the Maine law, the true beverage of the soldier!"

—Champ Ferguson is sinking rapidly. He is now so weak that he cannot walk to the court from the prison, and has to be conveyed in a hack. He still keeps up his indomitable spirit and iron nerve, and cherishes hopes of getting clear.

—Highly intelligent gentlemen from South Carolina say that the question of suffrage may prove somewhat embarrassing to South Carolina politicians in setting the basis of representation in that State. A strong party will be in favor of fixing it on the white basis, while the low country interest have heretofore controlled the legislation of the State by the preponderance in slaves. To insist now upon the negro forming any portion of the basis of representation will be more or less compromising upon the question of negro suffrage.

—A specie train arrived at Leavenworth, on the 19th, from Aguas Calientes, Mexico, with $40,000 in Mexican silver coin, $20,000 in gold, and £200 weight in silver plates and bars. It is owned by Senor Don Francisco Guiterros de Bolis. An escort of twelve men accompanied the train. They were attacked by guerrillas in Chihuahua, and one of the escort was wounded. Affairs are reported in a terrible condition in Mexico, bushwhackers swarming in all parts of the country.

—The Iowa liquor dealers held a convention in Des Moines last Wednesday, and declared their's to be a legitimate business, representing a capital of $1,000,000, and entitled to protection under the State laws. They regard the prohibitory law as "an act of usurpation and an infringement of the rights and liberties of the people, inconsistent with the spirit of the Constitution of the United States, and opposed to the best interests of the inhabitants of the State."

—Adjt. Gen. Terrell, of Indiana, is completing a posthumous historical report of the part Indiana has borne in the war, the first volume of which will go to press in about a month. It will embrace a full history of regiments, &c., and a descriptive account of each officer and soldier, showing promotions, casualties, and all other matter valuable for permanent record.

—A subscription is in circulation in Richmond for the relief of Mrs. Jefferson Davis and family, who, it is said, are in reduced circumstances. So far the effort has met with very liberal responses, and the probability is that enough will be raised to supply them with all they need.

—Some of the "saints" of Mormonland are getting disgusted. A large number of them, says the St. Joseph Union, reached that city on the 10th, on the way to the harems and workshops of Brigham and his elders. It is said that fifteen hundred of the "faithful" have deserted the Mormon faith and returned from the licentious territory.

—It recently became known to one of the military commanders in the western part of Virginia that there was, at a point in that State, near the Tennessee border, a large number of cattle formerly the property of the rebel government, and a small detachment was sent to take possession of them. On the arrival of this force it was attacked and driven off by the bushwhackers of the vicinity, and was unable to accomplish its object. A larger number of troops has since been sent to the scene of the disturbance, and a summary disposal of the bushwhackers will no doubt be made.

—An English paper says that the wife of the Prince of Wales is soon to have another heir. Grin and bear it, Mrs. Wales.

VOL. VI RALEIGH, FRIDAY, SEPT. 1, 1865 NO. 247.

THE CITY.

Shabby.—We have in our regimental corps an out and out Jessbian, whose inclinations in the way of describing female apparel, conforms to water falls, &c., have undoubtedly attracted attention with our lady readers. Unlike some of the New York Jessbians, he is distinguished for his veracity, and we have never had occasion to doubt any of his statements until yesterday when—he sent in the following questionable report of a conversation, which he says he overheard:

Army Chaplain.—"My young colored friend, can you read?"

Contraband.—"Yes sah!"

Army Chaplain.—"Glad to hear it. Shall I give you a paper?"

Contraband.—Sartin. Massa, if you please."

The chaplain looked at the contraband, and the contraband at the chaplain, then the latter sighed, and passed on.

Col. McChesney.—In referring to the death of this gentleman, the New York Times remarks as follows:

Col. J. M. McChesney, whose illness has already been noticed, died at Beaufort, N. C., a few days since, and his remains are now on the way to this city. Col. McChesney went out as a private in one of the Brooklyn Regiments, and eventually gained the Colonelcy of the Ninth New Jersey.—Afterward he was transferred to the First North Carolina Volunteers, and had command of Fort Macon and the district. About the time of Johnson's surrender, when he was satisfied that the war was over he resigned and went into business at Beaufort. Until the time of his death he suffered from the effects of a severe wound received at the seige of Washington, N. C.

The deceased was well known to many of our readers both in Raleigh and Newbern.

Messrs. O. G. Parsley, T. J. Armstrong and Adam Empie are announced as candidates for the convention in New Hanover county.

Personal.—Mr. Phillips, of the firm of Phillips & Bowen, having become an invalid, has withdrawn from the co-partnership which he has so successfully maintained in Raleigh for some months past; and Mr. Bowen, associating with him Mr. Randall, of the Exchange Hotel, proposes to run the "Shebang"—as the soldiers say. All usual success to them say we.

Rapid.—The Evening Standard of yesterday announces that Gen. Kilpatrick and Ex-Brig. Gen. Jack Casement, of Ohio, were in the city. They had both left twelve hours before its issue.

A New Phase of Miscegenation.—There is an old saying that "it is a wise child who knows its own father; but the reconstruction movement now being developed in the South promises to "reorganize," even this adage, for from a precedent recently established by Col. Whittlesey, of the Freedmen's Bureau, it will hereafter be rendered "a yellow child may know its paternal." The precedent above mentioned was occasioned by the complaint of a black man, who had been absent four years, that he had two large a family to support. In short during his absence his better two-thirds had added to his responsibilities two charming little yellow boys. He could not write, and consequently refused to acknowledge them. The parties lives near Hillsboro' and the statements of the freedmen were substantiated by a county officer. The Bureau decided that the woman may be allowed to declare the praternity of her doubtful offspring and that the father must support them or act towards them in accordance with the laws of the state provided for cases where the parties are both white.

New Advertisements.—Our columns this morning give good evidence of the fact that our business are wide awake to their interests, to the way of advertising. In order to succeed in business, advertise; to succeed in advertising, do it liberally and in the paper which circulates most extensively among the trading classes. Such a paper is the Progress.—We call particular attention to the following:

Shingles wanted; apply at this office.

Board at Beaufort, Mrs. Fulford.

Read them all and know how business, &c., is progressing.

Read It.—Under the head of new advertisements, this morning, will be found a quarter of a column from Gray, Kellogg & Co. This firm have permanently established themselves at the old stand of S. H. Young, on Fayetteville St. and are doing their best in the way of suiting customers by selling first class goods at low prices.—Mr. Gray spends most of his time in New York purchasing articles to replenish the stocks of his numerous establishments in the South, and consequently the latest styles of dress goods, &c., are always to be found at this store. We advise all to give them a call.

That Fourth [illegible] Hotel is now running in full style, with all the appendages and a complement of first class accommodations. Among the conveniences is a first class bar, daily lunch, and stocked with excellent liquors—Catawba, sherry, and numerous cobblers, brandy smashes, et al—as the legal fraternity [illegible] are to be found there. Go, ye thirsty, and sin for yourselves.

Good by the Cargo.—We have a large lot of fine paper on hand, and can print military blanks, court blanks, circulars, catalogues, &c., at the shortest notice, and at northern prices.

Also a large lot of cards on hand, which we can print at from $5 to $6 a thousand. Orders solicited at Progress Office.

The Teeth Often Die—long before the system loses its youthful vigor—this should not be so. To prevent this species of necrosis use Fragrant Sozodont. It keeps the dental bone alive, the enamel spotless, the gum rosy and elastic, the breath pure and the mouth clean.

Mustering Out Negro Troops.

It was recently announced that all the negro troops in the service were to be mustered out at an early day. We sincerely trust that this may be so, for it would render the work of restoring the insurgent States much easier, and many good results besides, would result from such action of the government.

Speaking of the mustering out of negro troops, the New York Times says:

We suppose that the mustering out of the negro troops will now be in order. Thus far, while the white soldiers have been disbanded, until three-fourths of the entire force have been sent to their homes, the colored military element has been retained intact. There are about a hundred thousand of them in service, which is about equal, we suppose, to the number of white troops yet on the rolls.

There are more difficulties about the disbandment of the negro troops than of the whites. They have not habits of self-help like the whites. They are not situated as the whites were, with regard to obtaining assistance from friends in civil life. Many of the regiments, especially in the Southwest, were composed of plantation hands who had come or were brought within our lines, and who have no place or locality resembling home to which they can now return. They would be in great measure helpless and friendless wanderers were they disbanded in mass as our white troops have been.

Yet we believe that the matter may be judiciously managed so that most of the menacing evils may be avoided. There is no doubt that most of them will desire to return to the places where they were raised and formerly lived; for the bump of "locality" is largely developed in the negro. And it is fortunate that the growth of industry, the organization of labor and the demand for laborers are now such, in most of the Southern States, that the disbanded blacks will find it much easier to get along than if they had been thrown upon their own resources at an earlier period. The Freedmen's Bureau, through its extensive agencies and efficient system of action, will be enabled to render a great help to these people in this emergency, and will thus forward the interests of the South and the whole country.

We do not believe that the character of the blacks has been damaged by their army experience; on the contrary, we believe it will be found it has greatly elevated them. It has appealed to their manly instincts, has aided in the formation of habits of order and promptitude, has enlarged their intelligence, and has developed in them courage and patriotism.—These qualities and characteristics will make them more efficient workers, and will in every way exercise an influence for good upon the entire race.

DAILY PROGRESS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 1, 1865.

The County Convention.

As a County convention has been called, and as many good leading Union men have joined in the call, we trust that there will be a sufficient representation from the various precincts of the county to make suitable nominations. We were opposed to a county convention, for reasons already stated, and for the further reason that we felt that one of the objects that influenced some who urged it, was the defeat of the wishes of those of our friends who had put forward our name for a seat in the State Convention. But we desire the return of the State to the Union, the protection of the general government for our citizens, and the peace, quiet and prosperity of the people of North Carolina above all things, and if the nominating convention which is to assemble to-morrow, can frame a ticket that will devote all their energies, as members of the convention, to the accomplishment of these purposes, we care not who the men are. We will support any good and true men who stood by and voted with the friends of peace in the state and county elections of last August.

We are not particularly anxious for a seat in the convention, or any other office; and if the withdrawal of our name will promote harmony and enable the convention to frame a ticket that will prove entirely acceptable to all loyal voters of the county, our friends are at perfect liberty to do it. Many of our friends in different parts of the county urge us to run with or without nomination, and express the belief that we would be elected under any circumstances, but we are unwilling to bring ourself in conflict with any of our loyal friends, and hence, if a ticket can be formed out of any of those gentlemen we have heretofore named, or of men who stood by and with them in the memorable contest of last summer, we will most cheerfully yield all claims that our friends may have supposed us to possess, and give it a zealous and hearty support.

Personally we were opposed to a nominating convention, preferring that any gentleman should run for the convention that desired to do so, and leave the people free to vote for the men of their choice; and had no call been made for a convention, and the race had been permitted to have gone on in that way, we felt no fears for the result. We were ready, willing and anxious to meet our traducers in every precinct in the county, to refute their falsehoods, and hold them up to public execration; but as our friends for whom we have great respect thought a different course best, we do most sincerely trust that the meeting to-morrow will result in making nominations that may prove entirely satisfactory to all loyal men of the county: and if this shall be done without the use of our own name, our friends may be assured that we shall be in no way disconcerated or mortified.

And a good ticket will be formed if secessionists and their sympathisers and those who acted with the war party last summer, are kept out of the county meeting to-morrow.

The Negroes Propose a State Convention—Meeting of Colored People at Newbern.

We publish as a matter of news, from the Newbern Times, the proceedings of a meeting of colored people, in that town, held for the purpose of taking steps to have themselves represented in a State Convention which it is proposed to hold in Raleigh on the 29th September.

A. H. Galloway, who seems to be a leading spirit among the blacks about Newbern, made the speech of the occasion. He thought his race had a Moses in the person of President Lincoln; but President Johnson he says is not even a Joshua. He claims for the blacks the right to vote, and said that they meant to agitate until they got it.

We think it would be much better for the blacks to be content, at least for the present, with what the war has done for them, and to go to work and try to improve their condition morally and intellectually. The whites in North Carolina are generally kindly disposed towards them, the little bitterness that does exist will soon become extinct, and if they will deport themselves properly and be diligent and virtuous their condition here will be infinitely better than in many of the northern states. Agitation and violence may withhold from them, for all time, many priviliges which a more subdued policy and conciliatory course would probably bring them in a few years. Threats and imperious demands will make the whites their enemies, when good behavior and a proper appreciation of their condition would give them friends.

All Quiet at Fayetteville.—We are glad that everything has become quiet about Fayetteville.—The News says:

"There has been some fear ecertained by persons in the vicinity of Fayetteville that in bringing their produce to market, they would encounter difficulty, owing to the supposed garrisoning of this place by Negro Troops. These fears are unnecessary. Col. Donnellan who has assumed Command of the Post, has not thought it necessary to bring with him any Troops, and is disposed to offer every assurance of protection to law-abiding citizens in the enjoyment of all their privileges. Only the evil doers need feel alarmed at his presence, and they could not claim immunity under civil rule.

Let our farmers continue to come to market and bring their produce, in the assurance that Col. Donnellan will seek to encourage their coming rather than throw obstacles in their way."

How we Reciprocate.

We are glad that our friends of the Newbern Times, who are so sensitive about disloyalty in opposition to the national authority is manifested as existing in North Carolina, are having such a harmonious time in their own immediate vicinity. A few days ago the friends of the Union met at Newbern, after full and fair notice, and nominated candidates for the State Convention. The gentlemen selected are good and true and eminently qualified for the responsible position, but it seems that there as elsewhere all is not so harmonious as it might be, for in a few days the following call for an opposition ticket is made:

UNION CONVENTION.

As it is the right of the people of Craven county to be fairly heard and consulted upon the deeply important subject of sending delegates to the coming Constitutional Convention, to assemble at Raleigh, and as no such fair opportunity has as yet been presented, we do hereby call upon and invite the Union men to hold primary meetings in their respective neighborhoods and precincts and select a proper number of delegates to represent them in a general county convention, to be held in New Bern, on the 12th day of September, 1865, at 11 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of then and there naming and placing in nomination two candidates for the Constitutional Convention, who will fully represent the sentiment of the county. In selecting delegates to represent them in the State Convention, the people should be cautious who they select—they should be men of tried patriotism, men of judgment and discretion, whose interests are identified with the county, and in whom the people can place entire confidence. For the purpose of placing in nomination two candidates for the Constitutional Convention, we cordially invite a full attendance of delegates at the time and place above mentioned.

Ulysses H. Ritch,
W. B. Watson,
M. Patterson,
Jno. Patterson,
A. J. Lofton.

August 26, 1865.

Referring to this call for another ticket the Times says, editorially:

"It is useless to disguise the fact that we are somewhat surprised at the movement. We had supposed that the gentlemen named by the National Union Party as their candidates for the State Convention were in every way suitable, whether as regards ability or the requisites of pure, unadulterated Unionism. We have heretofore combated, with all the earnestness at command, the idea that there could be more than one party in North Carolina in the present exigency. The principal fact to be recognised was, that the State did not hold proper relations to the general government. This understood, the next step to be taken was the selection of truly loyal and capable men to assist in the process of reconstruction.

"No one will deny that every effort was made to secure the general opinion of the county, in the manner usually recognized in such cases. If there is a doubt upon this subject, we have the proof to sustain us in the assertion.

"It is difficult to conceive what can be the distinctive difference between Union men in the present question. The candidates of the National Union Party recognise the truly deplorable condition of our State in common with all the formerly rebellious States. They recognise the cause. They accept the terms laid down authoritatively upon which our condition can be improved. They are truly loyal. They honestly and sincerely concur in the absolute necessity for a complete abolition of slavery in the State. They are citizens of the State. They have interests common with our loyal people. They have the requisite ability to discharge the duties required of them. Now, what more is required? What platform of principles will be adopted bearing upon present issues and having reference to the great end in view that is not fully met in the resolutions upon which the present ticket is based?

"We recognise the fact that there is but one paper in the city in which these subjects may be discussed, and we here sincerely tender it to the new party or the opponents of the National Union Party, freely, only asking that nothing of a disloyal character be sent us for publication."

The Times refers to the movers of this call for an opposition ticket as the "opponents of the National Union Party." Ah, indeed! And are there "opponents of the National Union Party' in Craven county? If so, we regret it, but such being the fact we can see no good reason why the Times should withhold the facts: on the contrary it seems to us that duty requires that it should proclaim the fact, as it does.

We could never appreciate the argument, maintained by some, that facts should be withheld or perverted that good might be accomplished thereby. If there be in Craven, or elsewhere in North Carolina, a party that does not accept the situation as they find it and who mean to agitate the negro question that more mischief may come of it, let the facts be heralded to the world and such persons and organizations denounced as the enemies of the government and the disturbers of the peace of society.

All allusions that we have made to disloyalty in North Carolina have been with the hope of assisting to suppress disaffection and restore peace, quiet and good government to the State and country, and we shall continue the work as long as the least opposition to the national authority is perceptible. We did suppose that if any county in the State could get along without jarring and discord that county would be Craven, and we greatly deplore these symptoms of a coming storm

A Georgia paper says that some of the candidates for the Convention in that State are advocating the repudiation of all private contracts entered into and all indebtedness contracted during the rebellion. We regret to hear that some of the candidates in this State are taking the same position. No honest man will repudiate an individual obligation of his own, or attempt to get another person to defraud an honest creditor. Individual debts and debts contracted to promote the rebellion are very different.

—The Copperheads of Pennsylvania tried to find some one-legged or one-armed soldiers to put on their ticket, but were unable to discover any base enough to endorse their outrageous principles.

—Tribune's Richmond correspondent reports a rumor current there that two of the strongest cells in the penitentiary in that city, recently ordered to be fitted up, are designed for the reception of Jeff. Davis and John Mitchel.

Union Meeting of Colored People.

A large meeting of the colored people was held in Andrew Chapel on Tuesday evening. The meeting having been made the subject of remark in the press, our reporter was on hand.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Galloway, who proposed Jno. R. Good for President and Robert R. Green for Vice President. Geo. Peace and Amos York were appointed secretaries.

The President, in taking the chair, said:

Fellow citizens and friends: I feel honored in being called upon to preside over a meeting of this kind, which I call it the first Convention of colored people, proposed to be held in the city of Raleigh. This meeting, as we are informed, is to take such measures as will advance the welfare of the colored people of this State. It has been the misfortune of North Carolina to be up with the colored people of other States, in this matter, and our voice should be heard in the great effort to elevate and reconstruct. The white people of this State and of the other Southern States are about to hold conventions for the purpose of reconstruction, and it is necessary that the colored people should take such steps as may influence them conventions and petitions for good.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS APPOINTED.

Mr. Galloway, who seemed to be the leading spirit on that occasion, moved the appointment of a Committee of five, to prepare and present resolutions expressive of the sentiments of this meeting. The Committee was appointed, consisting of John Randolph, Jr., Wm. H. Johnson, Wm. Hollyday, James W. Pierson, and Rev. Jos. Green.

Mr. Galloway moved that the Committee be requested to retire. It was so ordered. One of the Committee in going out remarked that inasmuch as no motion had been made as to the time of the Committee's return, he believed he'd go home.

Mr. Geo. W. Stanley moved that some one be invited to entertain the audience during the Committee's absence.

CAPT. RILEY IS CALLED FOR.

Capt. Riley, (a white officer) was here loudly called for, but he excused himself, stating that he came simply as a spectator.

The Vice-President here called upon Mr. Galloway, and asked him to favor the meeting with a few remarks in order to fill up the time.

MR. GALLOWAY TAKES THE STAND.

In response to the call, Mr. Galloway came forward and took the stand. He is evidently a favorite among the colored people, and gets off his speeches with a vim, and withal an easy grace that would do credit to many an orator with a white skin. He said:

Mr. President—Ladies and Fellow-Citizens:—We have met here this evening to make known to each other and to the world our wants; and to take the necessary steps to place ourselves in that position which we are fitted to occupy.

HE TAKES THE SUFFRAGE BULL BY THE HORNS.

In the first place, Mr. President, we want to be an educated people and an intelligent people. We want to read and write and acquire those accomplishments which will enable us to discharge the duties of life as citizens. In the second place we want to be allowed the privilege of voting. (Applause.) I know that the white people, or some of them will object to this. But if they refuse to allow us the privilege of free suffrage, I am willing to compromise the matter with them. I am willing that the test of education should be made to rule in the matter, for both white and black, and I tell you Mr President, that if this is done, one half the white people of North Carolina will be debarred from voting. (Tremendous applause.) I believe the negro ought to be allowed to vote; I am sure we would not abuse it.—If the negro knows how to use the cartridge box, he knows how to use the ballot box. If he is capable of handling the one he is capable of handling the other. But the rebels don't want us to vote, or they say they don't. With all their grumbling—and they say they will quit the country and go to Europe if the negro is allowed to vote—and I know it would be no loss to the government if they did quit—I tell you Mr. President, it wouldn't be six months before they would be putting their arms around our necks and begging us to vote for them for office. (Tremendous applause.)

HE DON'T WISH TO BE MAYOR.

Now, sir, I overheard two white men talking day or two ago. One of them said to the other "I don't favor this negro voting, for if they are allowed to vote they have the majority here in Newbern, and the first thing they will do, will be to elect that scoundrel, Galloway, Mayor. (Laughter.) Now Mr. President, I don't wish to be elected Mayor; I wouldn't begin so low down as that. All I ask is that we should have our full rights under the law. The white man says he don't want to be placed on equality with the negro. Why, sir, if you could only see him slipping around at night, trying to get into negro women's houses you would be astonished. [Treble voice in the corner, "That's the truth, Galloway."]

HE THINKS A WHITE MAN IS AS GOOD AS A NEGRO—UNDER CERTAIN CIRCUMSTANCES.

I do not wish to be considered as the white man's enemy. No, sir, I think the white man is as good as a negro—if he will only behave himself. Besides, sir, I am half white myself. My father was a white man, and one of the chivalry of North Carolina, at that. If I make a white man mad, he immediately says, "You're a nigger." Now, I am only half negro, and the other half feels offended. But I love the negro more than I do the white man, and want to see the negro elevated to his proper position.

HE TOUCHES UP THE NATIONAL UNION PARTY.

But, sir, we have many warm friends among the whites. I do not mean to say, though, that the gentlemen who met at the theatre last Saturday night are our friends.—They are perfectly willing to give us Bibles and spelling books, but they want to keep us in our degraded condition, and deny us the rights of voting and other privileges to which we are entitled before the law.

HE OBJECTS TO THE NAME OF "FREEDMAN."

Another thing, Mr. President. In our new condition, we are called "Freedmen." It is not right, sir; we are free men now, and should be called "Freemen." There are some who do not want us to enjoy the rights of freemen; but we will, sir. We will agitate, and agitate, and agitate this question, sir, till we gain the freeman's privilege of voting and of giving evidence in court. Go down to the Mayor's Court, sir, and look at the records; you will see where the negro is fined twenty dollars and the white man only ten dollars. Why, don't you see, sir, the negro man has got more money than the white man. There would be no chance there at all, for a poor negro, if it wasn't for a little man named Fitch—my very heart jumps with joy whenever I hear that excellent gentleman's name. If you could see him, sir, as I have seen him, with his big law books, and his piles of evidence to bear upon the cases. He is the negro man's friend.

HE CLOSES THE ARGUMENT WITH A NOVEL PROPOSAL.

But, Mr. President, I see the committee returning, and I will close. The only way you can close the negro man's mouth is to throw the ballot down his throat.

We have reported as much of the colored orator's address as we could catch. The committee having returned, on motion their report was submitted. The following is the report:

Whereas a call for a State Convention of the colored people of North Carolina having been made through the columns of the N. C. Times, requesting a response from those favorable to the call; therefore be it

Resolved, By the people of Newbern in mass assembled, that we do heartily approve of the holding of the proposed Convention, believing that our present unhappy and unsettled condition as a people demand our most earnest efforts by education, virtue, industry and economy, to qualify ourselves for the higher stations of life; and by appealing to those in authority to extend to us those rights and privileges of which we have been heretofore deprived and which will now enable us to mitigate our present deplorable condition.

Resolved, That the many atrocities committed upon our people in almost every section of our country as shown, not only by newspaper accounts, but by eye witnesses and the sufferers themselves, clearly demonstrate the immense prejudice and hatred on the part of our former owners towards us and that the enforcement of the old code of slave laws that prohibits us from the privilege of schools, that deny us the right to control our families, their rights and testimony in courts of justice, that after keeping us at work without pay till their crops are laid by and then driving us off confessing hunger to give us food and shelter, that whipping, thumbscrewing and not infrequently murdering us for trial on the high seas, in our judgment comes far short of being a republican form of Government and calls for its remedial.

Resolved, That as in the Providence of God our condition has been changed from slavery to that of freedmen, we are not insensible as to how appreciated and important we are left in the perpetuation of that freedom, without the elective franchise to sustain it.

Resolved, That our delegates to the Convention be instructed to take thoughtful consideration of this most important subject and urge upon the minds of the people and the Committee of the Convention of the State, that it is to the best interest of weal or our race, that they should give us the right to vote in a State and County in which cases (as we in defence of slavery) are still ever ready to bear our part, that in asking at their hands the restoration of this blood bought right, we do it in full confidence of our ability to exercise it to the best interest of the State and country.

Resolved, That in our judgment, Raleigh should be the

REAL ESTATE AGENCY.

NORTH CAROLINA ADVERTISER.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVE ESTABLISHED IN the City of Raleigh, an Agency for the purpose of buying and selling Real Estate in North Carolina. In connection therewith, and as auxiliary thereto they will publish a double sheet, twenty-four column weekly newspaper, wherein will be advertised, free of cost, all lands offered for sale through their agency, and which will be devoted to the dissemination of information concerning the agricultural, mineral, manufacturing and other resources of the State. By means of competent Agents in in every county they will show the present advancement and special capabilities for future development of each.

It will be found, on investigation, that no State in the Union can present such a combination of advantages as North Carolina. Situated midway between the colder regions of the North and the more tropical climes of the South, its land stretching from the sea-coast to the mountains, yield bountiful returns of cotton, tobacco, rice, grain, fruits, pasturage, grapes and other products, while in its bosom lie rich mines of gold and iron, copper, lead coal, and other minerals, its rivers afford water power sufficient for the most extensive factories, and in its forests are boundless supplies of naval stores, timber and material for tanning. Under the recent change in the system of labor it becomes the interest of proprietors to part with a portion of their real estate, and it is the object of this enterprise, through agencies in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and other chief cities to bring these abundant resources of the State to the notice of men of energy and capital, to get together the seller and the buyer, and to aid in starting North Carolina in a career of prosperity heretofore unknown.

The ADVERTISER will be furnished free of charge to all customers, and to others at One Dollar per annum. The first number will be issued by the first of July, or sooner, if the type and necessary material already ordered, can be procured from New York before that time. Those desiring to advertise in the first number will please communicate to the undersigned at once. Moderate commissions will be charged where sales are made.

The Cigar Ship.

Mr. Winans is building at a London yard, and will launch in a few weeks, his celebrated "cigar ship." The London Times thus describes it:

"Looking at her now, she appears to be little more than a gigantic iron main-yard for some vessel of the Flying Eastern class, having a rather wide diameter in the middle and tapered at each end to a point almost as fine as that of a needle. As regards her external appearance, then, we need only add that the rivets that fasten her plates are counter-sunk, so that she presents outwardly a perfectly smooth surface, while the workmanship of her joints is so perfect that even the touch fails to detect the slightest irregularity in her evenness. So far, then, her form, strength and small midship section will have a great deal to do with her speed, but when to these favorable conditions is added the immense power with which it is hoped she will be driven, it is no wonder that a high rate of going is confidently talked of by her designer.

Her engines are three cylinder, to be driven at high pressure, turning one steel shaft (made by Mr. Krupp,) which revolv s through the whole length of the vessel, projecting from the fine points at each end, where it carries a screw. These screws are to be four feet greater in diameter than the greatest diameter of the vessel—namely, twenty-two feet, and each is to have eight blades, because the two points being only, say a foot or so below the water, four of the blades of each screw will be out as it revolves, while there will be always four of each immersed to do the work of propulsion. Under each screw is a rudder, and by steering with both, the vessel can be turned on a pivot. As the extreme points would be too fine to admit the passage of the screw shaft and its bearings also, this difficulty is obviated by making about sixteen feet of each end revolve with the shaft, and thereby form part of it, so that with the increased diameter of the point at the end of the sixteen feet towards the midships there is ample room gained for both shafts and bearings.

"Her boilers, like all the other parts of the vessel, are on a new plan. Four of them are on the locomotive principle, with vertical tubes. A blast fan is to give them draught, and they are to work at one hundred and fifty pounds pressure. This is a great power, but as the boilers are built far stronger than on locomotive boilers, it is asserted that they could be worked up to one thousand pounds, or even one thousand pounds per square inch with safety. There are one hundred and thirty-six feet of fire bar surface, and it is expected that, with the aid of the blast fan, each of these one hundred and thirty six feet will be made to burn fifty pounds of coal per hour.—The furnaces can accomplish this, then, according to the rule which gives one nominal horse power for every two and a half pounds of coal consumed per hour, Mr. Winans yacht will be working at nearly one thousand five hundred horse power."

Sheridan's Mode of Fighting.

Every master of battle-tactics has a favorite mode of fighting, varied of course by circumstances, and especially by the wary dispositions of the enemy. A study of Sheridan's campaigns will, we think, disclose the peculiarity of his very readily. His success has been most brilliant; the secret of it is very simple. In the first place, as we are told by an enthusiastic private, just come from the wars, "Phil. Sheridan means to win." Other Generals manœuvre, and try to outwit the plans of the enemy, to excel in defensive battle; the offensive of such is always weak.—Sheridan's is always on the offensive. We do not now speak of Sheridan's raids, which, although concealed in the most masterly manner, are subordinate in character to other plans, and usually seek to elude the enemy. But so; in his grand tactics, as displayed at Winchester, Cedar Creek and Five Forks, we observe a principle which finds its expression in the following order of attack: He organizes his army into three divisions—two strong parallel columns of attack, thrown with the fiercest impetuosity upon the enemy, and a reserve in the rear. When the battle rages in front, so that his foe is fully engaged, his reserve, moving by the flank, usually the right, takes a double file around upon the flank and rear of the earnestly-employed enemy, and rolls him up in the center. Just such were the tactics of Dessix and Kellerman, at Marengo. The former moved his six thousand infantry, by the main road, upon Gen. Mack's triumphant advance from Alexandria, while the latter, moving by the right, made a double left turn upon Pfaffil's Austrian horse, and won the day. Sheridan's invariable success, then, has been due to the great earnestness and valor with which he always pushes his troops, and then to his tactics of two columns and a flanking reserve.—United States Service Magazine.

Tecumseh to his Bummers.

General Sherman attended a picnic near Lancaster, Ohio, when on a visit to his old home in that city, recently. A good many of his old soldiers were present, and he gave the boys and people generally one of his highly interesting and instructive talks. One of his points says the Cincinnati Commercial, is all claiming attention:

"When the Rebels ventured their all in their efforts to destroy our Government, they pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors to their cause—the Government accepted their wager of battle. Hence, when we conquered, we, by conquest, gained all they had—their property became ours by conquest. Thus they lost their slaves, their mules, their horses, their cotton, their all, and even their lives and personal liberty, thrown by them into issue, were theirs only by our forbearance and clemency. By this right of conquest we on this ground we stand on to day, conquered from the Indians—the Shawnees, I believe.

So, soldiers, when we marched through and conquered the country of these rebels, we became owners of all they had, and I don't want you to be troubled in your consciences for taking, while on our great march, the property of conquered rebels. They forfeited their rights to it, and I, being agent for the Government, to which it belonged, gave you authority to keep all the Quartermaster couldn't take possession of or didn't want"

Proposals

FOR THE PURCHASE OF

Horses, Mules, Wagons and Harness.

OFFICE CHIEF QUARTERMASTER,
DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA,
RALEIGH, August 14th, 1865.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this office until 12 o'clock M. on Tuesday, September 5th, 1865, for the purchase of a large number of Horses, Mules, Wagons and Harness.

The property will be free for the inspection of bidders at Charlotte, Raleigh and Newbern, N. C., from the 20th of August until the day of sale.

Horses and Mules will be put aside in lots of 12, 24, and 48, each; the Wagons in lots of 2, 4 and 8 each; and the Harness in lots of 12, 24 and 48 single setts, each. Proposals will only be considered for the whole of each separate lot.

A number of Four-Mule and Six-Mule Teams, with Harness and Wagons, will also be set aside at each point named, and proposals received for single Teams, with the Wagons and Harness complete.

Proposals should be addressed to the undersigned, at Raleigh; and should be endorsed—"proposals for the purchase of public property."

The right is reserved to reject all bids that may be offered.

Successful bidders will be notified in person or by telegraph; and will be required to remove the property on or before September 8th.

Full information, and blanks for proposals, will be furnished on application by letter or in person to the undersigned, or to Lieut. Simpson, A. A. Q. M., Charlotte; Capt. A. M. Garoutte, A. Q. M., Raleigh; Captain U. H. Wheeler, A. Q. M., Newbern; and Captain D. W. H. Day, A. Q. M., Raleigh.

Payment must be made in Government funds on the delivery of the property.

All Mules offered in this manner are sound and serviceable—a large proportion of them far superior to any offered for sale at auction in the Department. This will be the only opportunity planters and others will have of purchasing this class of stock from the Government.

J. F. BOYD,
aug15-td Col. and Chief Quartermaster.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1865.

The Great Invention of the Age in

Hoop Skirts.

J. W. BRADLEY'S NEW PATENT DUPLEX ELLIPTIC, (OR DOUBLE) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS INVENTION CONSISTS OF DUPLEX (OR two) Elliptic Pure Refined Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable Spring ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm-Chairs, for Promenade and Home Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having Enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great Gentleness of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c., &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

For sale in all first-class stores in this City, and throughout the United States and Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America and the West Indies.

Georgia and South Carolina.

Of the general feeling in Georgia, an Augusta paper says:

"Our reports from a number of counties, as to the spirit the people are manifesting with reference to resuming the obligations of citizens of the United States, are exceedingly encouraging. They are generally coming forward in all the counties in which the ordinaries have prepared themselves with blanks. Those who have been predicting an unwillingness on the part of the people of Georgia to assume the duties of citizenship, are bound to prove false prophets.

We are glad to see this and hope that Georgia will not be behind the other States in the work of restoration.

Of the progress Governor Perry, of South Carolina, is making in the important work committed to his hands, a Columbia paper says:

We note that Governor Perry's presence is eagerly and freely called for, in various portions of the State, and his approaching arrival even announced, leading to frequent disappointment in certain sections. But the Governor, for obvious reasons, has made Greenville his own residence, his headquarters, and there letters and visitors may reach him with little more cost and difficulty than if they sought him in Columbia. The resources of the Provisional Governor of this or any other State, at present, will not suffice to enable him to wander where he will, and endure the severe exactions of any hotel in any of our cities. Carriage and travel, also, are by no means pleasant, easy or unexpensive. And, briefly, to sum up all, what business the Governor has at present to do, can be as well and much more cheaply done in Greenville than either at Charleston or Columbia. Our private advices inform us, indeed, that the Governor has his hands full of business and has been doing a great deal. His work is incessant, and he tells us that his official patronage is entirely exhausted, already—an assurance which must prove monstrous distressing to many still hungry persons. The Governor writes us cheerfully as to the future of the State—assures us that the curtain is gradually uplifting before our vision—that the President holds forth the most favoring aspects, and has given his sanction to what he has been doing. We presume that the Governor will at a time it as to be present at the assemblage of the Convention; and with his papers so prepared as to render necessary no delays in the proper prosecution of business. Engaged in this, we do not see any prospect of his visiting Columbia, or any other part of the State until the period assigned for the assembling of the Convention. He would no doubt be quite pleased to gratify the curiosity of all parties, in all places—but obeys the rule which puts "Business," the wheel horse, before "Pleasure," the fancy pad.

Wade Hampton and Joe Johnston.

From Major Nicholas' "Story of the Great March" we copy the following on the personal appearance of these two celebrities in the rebel army. The observations were made during the famous conference resulting in the capitulation of the forces under Johnston:

Wade Hampton, a large and powerful man, gave but little opportunity for a critical examination of the graces of his person; for during the morning he lay stretched, in an indifferent manner, upon an old carpenter's bench by the side of the house; and when he afterwards followed his superior out of the enclosure, dangling after him an immense sword which must have been imported for the occasion, either nature or the taylor, or both, gave him an appearance of vulgarity and clumsiness which surprised those who had been educated to believe that a South Carolinian who owned many slaves was necessarily an elegant and refined gentleman. It should be said of Hampton's face—that is, what could be seen of it behind a beard which was unnaturally black for a man of fifty years of age—that it seemed bold even beyond arrogance; and this expression was, if possible, intensified by the boastful fanfaronade which he continued during the whole period of the conference.

General Johnston whom we had an opportunity of observing later in the day, is a man of medium height and striking appearance. He was dressed in a neat gray uniform, which harmonized gracefully with a full beard and mustache of silvery whiteness, partly concealing a genial and generous mouth, that must have become habituated to a kindly smile. His eyes, dark brown in color, varied in expression—now intense and sparkling, and then soft with tenderness, or twinkling with humor. The nose was roman and the forehead full and prominent. The general cast of the features gave an expression of goodness and manliness, mingling a fine nature with the decision and energy of the capable soldier. These were my impressions of Gen. Joe Johnston, as I saw him, now assenting to some proposition of Gen. Sherman, put forth in his acute, energetic manner, or when in conversation with a brother officer of the old army, Gen. Barry, met here for the first time in many years.

Blondin—His Marvelous Exploits in Paris.

Blondin is performing at the Hippodrome in Paris. He exhibits himself on a wire cable about a hundred and fifty feet above the ground.—He undresses himself at the centre of the rope, divesting himself of various articles of clothing, when he drops down into the arena below, and appears in flesh-colored tights, with plates of shining metals around his neck and wrists; he then hangs himself from the wire, first by one hand, next by the other, turning a variety of complicated summersaults, and coming up now on one side of the wire, and now on the other, hanging head downwards, and so forth.

He then draws himself up, seats himself on the wire, places his balancing pole in rest, takes a pair of iron hoops from his waist, hooks them to the wire, and proceeds to hang himself from them by both hands; then by one hand, then by the other, then by one foot, then by both, throwing himself into the most incredible positions, twisting his body through his arms, then through his legs; in fact, going through a series of evolutions that would be wonderful enough if performed on terra firma, but which, performed at such an altitude, with nothing but the almost invisible wire between him and the abyss of emptiness below him, seem almost superhuman.

And, as though all this were not already sufficiently appalling, he next fixes his pole across the cable, hooks the hoops on to the pole, and goes through the same set of performances, hanging head downwards below the pole, which seems to shiver with every movement of the acrobat. Blondin is perfectly aware of the fearfully perilous nature of his performances, fully expects to be killed some day or other while engaged in them, and never goes up to his perilous perch without saying to himself, "Who knows if this be not the last time I may go on the wire?"

—A few days since, near Prescott, C. W., a cow attempted to but a railway train off the track, and succeeded. The locomotive and all the cars were thrown off, and some of them, with the engine, fell down the embankment. There was plenty of beef after the collision, but not much cow.

KITTRELL'S SPRINGS

Female Collegiate Institute,

GRANVILLE COUNTY, N. C.

THIS celebrated Watering Place will be opened as an Institution of Learning on the first Wednesday in October next, with a full and competent Board of Instructors.

This new Institution furnishes advantages such as are to be found at no other school in the South. The buildings are all new, within a half mile of Kittrell's Depot, on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and sufficient to accommodate three hundred boarders, besides abundant room for school purposes.

The character of the mineral water found here is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. It has been pronounced by the best scholars and physicians to be equal in its analysis and effects to any in North Carolina or Virginia.

It will be our object to perpetuate here an Institution for the education of females that shall be an ornament to the South; and we have the most gratifying assurances to this effect from every part of the country.

Terms moderate, (cheaper as any school of similar grade) payable one-half in advance, in U. S. currency, or provisions at market rates. Bank notes taken at their market value.
